

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

A device is equipped with a unit to actuate a continuously variable motor vehicle transmission in at least one normal mode and in an acceleration mode with a higher driving speed in comparison to that of the normal mode. The unit adjusts the differential value, by which the driving speed in the acceleration mode exceeds the driving speed in the normal mode, on the basis of an acceleration of the motor vehicle.